"The Lord searches every heart and understands every motive behind the thoughts. If you seek Him, He will be found by you." (I Chronicles 28:9) A journey, a trek, an adventure, an expedition, a mission.... For each of these there is a destination. They each contain a goal that must be met before the journey is complete. As Christians our most definitive journey is our walk with Jesus Christ. Seeking to be more Christlike is our ultimate goal. In that journey is where we suffer our most difficult hardships and yet where we find our greatest satisfaction. In that journey there is joy.

Student Life

With all that college students are involved in, how can there be much time left for "student life?" Everyone may want to go to dances, parades, games and basketball games but it is finding the one that proves to be challenging. Perhaps balancing everything is the greatest difficulty for college students. Despite all the turmoil of scheduling it seems that whatever one chooses to make of their "student life" is what they remember the most about their college career. The time one spends doing little memorable things, such as taking a walk with a friend or going to a soccer game or participating in an intramural sport, proves to be priceless in the end.

Welcome Week

Explosions, War, and Mystery

By Camille Edrington

Welcome Week started with a bang at the Sunday Night Explosion. Nervous freshmen mingled with wise and experienced upperclassmen at the event put on by the BSU. It was only the beginning of a hectic week. The weather Monday night proved to be perfect for the Welcome Back dance.

The brutally competitive annual Dorm Wars were held on Stapp Lawn. In the end the girls from the Residence Village took home the trophy, a little statue of R2-D2. A hypnotist was Thursday's guest at the Night of Mystery. The audience thoroughly enjoyed their fellow students making fools of themselves while acting in a trance. The week concluded with the Bean and Bailey comedy show Friday night. By the end of the week students had almost forgotten about the stresses of returning to school.

Freshman Week

First Week Fears

By Cara Forgette

Nervous freshmen began their first week at Campbellsville University. Anxiety about meeting their new roommate and worries about missing their first class filled the minds of the newcomers. The faculty and staff at Campbellsville University made every effort to make newcomers feel welcome and ease any discomfort. Freshman Week activities included the Freshman Auction and a cookout at the home of the president. These provided students with the opportunity to become more familiar with the campus and each other. The perfect ending for the week was the CU football team defeating Austin Peay.

Family Weekend

...Or How To Enjoy A Weekend With Your Parents

By Camille Edrington

Under normal circumstances college students attempt to escape the attention and close scrutiny of their parents. Family Weekend might be the exception to this rule. Parents were invited to a late afternoon cookout on Friday afternoon, followed by an uplifting pep rally, and the Dave and Ed Show. Saturday's activities included a tailgate party and a football game. Many students wondered which their parents enjoyed more - having a glimpse into their student's college experience or getting to have the opportunity to relive their own college days. Regardless of the reason, parents were thrilled to share a rare moment with their college student.

Homecoming Weekend

A Weekend Everyone Could Enjoy

By Cara Forgette

Homecoming Weekend was filled with action-packed activites for all ages to enjoy. Friday evening there was a picnic where students could enjoy eating outside in the nice autumn weather. Cheerleaders, football players and students got pumped up for Saturday's Tiger football game at Friday's pep rally. A parade, car show, face painting, alumni games and the football game were just a few of the many events that took place Saturday afternoon. During half time of the football game, last year's Homecoming Queen, Leanne Quinlan crowned junior Heather Tapp as the 2001 Homecoming Queen. The three ladies in her court were senior Shauna Price, sophomore Brittany Basham, and freshman Regina White.

Coach Ron Finley congratulates the team after a great homecoming victory.

Homecoming Dance

A Country Hoedown

By Cara Forgette

Homecoming Weekend was beginning to wind down. On Saturday night, however, students came alive at the Homecoming Dance. They arrived wearing their "hoedown" outfits. Accessories such as cowboy hats, belt buckles, plaid shirts, and jeans made the dance a major hit.

Homecoming Queen, Heather Tapp, took the spotlight as she was honored with a special dance. The DJ played a variety of songs that seemed to satisfy everyone's taste. It was a wonderful opportunity for students to socialize with whom they were not already acquainted.

Snowflake Ball

A Place for Winter Romance

By Camille Edrington

The Snowflake Ball, put on by the Student Government Association, proved to be the most successful dance of the year. SGA member Tiffany Taylor claimed it was one of their best turnouts at any dance so far. Perhaps the cold weather drove the CU students into the warm activity center, where the dance was held. Amy Graham and Frank Wright were crowned king and queen at the ball and enjoyed a special spotlight dance.

The hard work of chairpersons Ashli Schmidt and Beth Boswell showed clearly on the night of February 15, 2002, at the annual Valentine Pageant. The contestants of the SGA sponsored event were judged on poise, presentation, talent, personality, and an interview. Although the competition was fierce, judges selected Nancy Llewellyn as the winner.

Spring Formal

Much Improved

Students were willing to go a long way for the one formal dance during the year. Spring Formal was held on April 12, 2002, from nine to one in the morning at the Pritchard Community Center in Elizabethtown.

Students were buzzing about how much the dance had improved since last year. The location and DJ were a huge part of the improvement. Even the 30 minute drive to the community center was better than last year's hour and a half commute to Bowling Green. The food was the final touch. This year SGA went beyond brownies and punch and added several dishes to round out what they offered to students.

Formal was one of the most anticipated events of the year. After another year of living in jeans and sweats, students looked forward to getting into formal attire, going out to eat, and then dancing all night.

A deserted tennis court, an abandoned recital hall filled with instruments and no musicians, an empty classroom void of students and professors... The most unique and valuable part of Campbellsville University is the people that make it come alive: the faculty, administration, and students. Whether they are athletes, writers, instructors, chefs, maintenance workers, coaches, or librarians, the people that fill this campus are what give it life.

During the 2001-2001 school year students participated in intramural sports, cheered at football games, clapped with the marching band, sang loudly along with True Vibe, studied chemistry, enjoyed "cheap night" at the movies, listened attentively at BSU meetings, hung out on open dorm nights, and played pranks on one another. The people are the necessary ingredient that makes "college life" so unique.

There's a New Way at Broadway

Changes in Broadway included painting inside and out, new carpet, and several other improvements.

Campus Improvements

There were a substantial number of campus improvements during the 2001 academic year. The Office of Communications and Marketing and Career Counseling moved their offices to new houses purchased by the University. Montgomery Library began completely renovating during the spring semester. The anticipated date of completion is August 2002. One of the smaller, but most appreciated improvements was the repaving and relining of the center parking lot in front of the Student Activity Center. Changes in the dormitories were extensive. Broadway Hall had the most changes including painting the awnings and shutters, painting the rooms inside, painting and papering the student lounge, and new carpet. In addition new furniture was supplied in the other dorms. The biggest addition was the construction of the new Technology Center which was finished in January.

ESL Institute

By Teraca Chesser

This year Mr. Vanedson Ximenes was director of the ESL Institute with Mrs. Christine Sooriya-Arachchi as the Academic Coordinator. Other adjunct faculty include Mr. David Hill, Mrs. Joanna Ximenes, Ms. Laura Willhite, Mr. Gordon Smith, and Mr. Gamini Sooriya-Arachchi.

The purpose of the ESL program is to provide exchange students with the opportunity to learn Amercian culture, to advance their English skills through their studies and to prepare them to do college level studies at CU and other American colleges. ESL consisted of a wide range of students from Korea, Taiwan, Japan, Argentina, Brazil, and Vietnam.

The services provided by the Campbellsville faculty and staff are often overlooked. Whether helping students locate a book in the library, determining the correct postage, returning an unneeded textbook, or finding the correct department, these hard-working, efficient employees have earned the respect of both students and community. From the Office of Academic Affairs to Student Services they strive to be mature, Christ-like examples for their peers and for the students they serve. It has been said that, "Campbellsville would be nothing if not for the wonderful people that work there."

The TLRC was totally void of all books and supplies by the spring semester.

The TLRC had to be completely emptied of all books and supplies before work could begin.

There was no room to store the books from the TLRC so student workers stacked the books wherever they could find space in the Reference Room.

Library Changes

Extra chairs from the basement were stacked in the Reference Room.

Renovations in Montgomery Library really took flight early on in the spring semester. The entire basement and TLRC were cleared of all supplies and the books were transferred upstairs to the Reference Room. Actual construction began in April 2002, starting with the back of the building and moving forward. Not only will the library be renovated but an automated library system will be added. Already completed is the bar coding of all the books in Montgomery Library and the Music Library.

The Reference Room was completely calm before construction began.

Books were stacked in the Reference Room at the beginning of the spring semester.

Organizations

Being a part of the body of Christ means fellowship and service with others. After a long day of classes or an excruciating test not only could students be found enjoying a game of pool or chess, but at blacklight practice, an FCA meeting, or at RA prayer meetings.

Whatever group students chose to be a part of, they could be caught serving throughout the week. Practices for BSU dinner theater and Oasis worship band consumed their weekdays. On Saturday they could be seen early, clad in overalls and equipped with nails, thermoses, and power tools to work on houses for Kentucky Heartland Outreach. Sunday found them traveling to area churches to witness with Creative Ministries. Giving their time paid off in the end when students realized what strong friendships they had formed and how they had improved the lives of others.

Academic Team

This organization is made up of all students who enjoy the challenge of quick-recall. CU is a member of the Kentucky Collegiate Quick Recall League. They attended two practices a week and participated in six league competitions throughout the academic year held at Georgetown College, Ohio University's Southern Campus, Jefferson Community College Southwest, Murray State University, Eastern Kentucky University, and Cumberland College. They placed at two of the tournaments, bringing home the third place plaque from OUSC, and the second place plaque from MSU.

Student Government

Where Would CU Be Without Them?

The Student Government Association serves as a communication channel among students, administration, and faculty members under laws approved by the administration, faculty, and Board of Trustees. The Student Government Association Senate includes a president, vice president, secretary/treasurer, activities director and senators chosen from signifigant divisions of the student body: resident students, commuting students, married students, and non-traditional students. The SGA Senate voices concerns of students to administration via resolutions. SGA plans Welcome Week and Homecoming Week activities and sponsors the Spring Formal Dance.

Heartland Outreach

Reaching Out to Those in Need

The Kentucky Heartland Outreach is an organization created to minister to Taylor and surrounding counties through the services that enhance for living for those less fortunate by repairing homes and restoring lives through the empowerment of Jesus Christ. This ministry will allow University students and church groups to work evenings and weekends serving the needs of the community. Over the past two years, KHO has repaired 45 homes. This year was highlighted with the building of a new home.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Playing to Win Souls

The purpose of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes is to present to athletes and coaches, and all whom they influence, the challenge and adventure of receiving Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord, serving Him in their relationships and in the fellowship of the church. Participants for the University Fellowship are to be past or present members of recognized school athletic teams.

Meetings were held on Wednesday nights. They usually consisted of an "ice breaker" game, worship, and a message. Students enjoyed the time to fellowship with teammates and fellow athletes.

Ryan Singerman, Amanda Reardon, Matt Beasley, Stephanie Sims, and Jessica Belcher listen to students share their testimony.

Journey for Christ

BSU (Baptist Student Union) focused this year on reaching out to those around them and taking Jesus into the community and around the world. They sponsored several events like FOCUS, where students can grow closer to God. The weekly worship service (Oasis) allows everyone to come and fellowship with other Christians.

The Creative Ministries group made many adventurous journeys to churches to perform. Both the blacklight and theme interpretation teams brought new life to song.

Mission Trips

Spring Break is Prime Time for Evangelism

By Julie Boehm

Missions is a huge part of the CU campus life and the students are involved in missions throughout the entire year. CU sends the most teams out over spring break. This year 107 CU students traveled all over the world to spread God's Word. The locations included Cleveland, Ohio; Los Angeles, California; Orlando, Florida; Panama City, Florida; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Washington, D. C.; Paris, France; Costa Rica, Africa, Hawaii, and Poland. These students worked with homeless people, distributed Bibles, participated in prayer walks, creative ministries, street and village evangelism, back yard Bible clubs, construction, beach and sports outreach.

Creative Ministries

Serving Christ on the Road

By Camille Edrington

Creative Ministries allowed students to fellowship with one another and witness in Kentucky churches. The four ministry teams consisted of blacklight, drama, interpretive movement, and a puppet team that was especially popular with the elementary school children. CU students would load the vans on Friday or Saturday, travel to the church where they would be ministering, and set up for an evening service and often a Sunday morning service as well. They worked almost exclusively with teenagers and children, although on occasion they would perform for adults. They were usually accompanied by a speaker and sometimes the BSU praise band. CU students that participated really enjoyed a chance to evangelize.

Sports

Truthfully, when you think about it, why would anyone want to be involved in sports? You have to endure tedious conditioning and immensely challenging physical activity. Practices are time-consuming and require extreme commitment. Between school work, practices, and games, where is there time for a life?

Anyone who has participated in any type of sport knows the answer to these questions. Sports provide so much more than just a quick way to get in shape. It creates discipline, responsibility, life-long friends, and a feeling of acceptance. The joy of being part of a team is indescribable.

Athletes create the confidence they need to become successful. The special memories will be cherished and you can always look back on this journey that put you where you are today.

FOOTBALL

Football Team Has Heart

By Kelli McDowell

On any day of the week, at almost any decent hour, you can probably find a CU football team member on the practice field, watching film or in the weight room. That dedication proved itself out on the field every Saturday. Senior captains Robert Meacham, Brennan Conway, David Petett, Nick Cravens, and All American Demetrius Forney led the Fighting Tigers to a record of 10-3 this season. The season proved to be the best in CU's history by reaching the final eight of the NAIA playoffs.

Finishing Strong

By Camille Edrington

Both Campbellsville's men's and women's cross country teams finished their season admirably. The men's team, specifically, had numerous successes throughout their 2001 season including taking first place at the Pikeville Invitational on September 29, 2001 and sending their captain, Jason Hayes, to nationals. Perhaps much of their success can be attributed to the dedication of Bill Moore, who was named Coach of the Year of the Mid-South Conference.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Tigers Have Up and Down Season

By Kelli McDowell

The Men's basketball team had many individual successes this year. Senior transfer Donta Wade was named NAIA First Team All-American and First Team All MSC, and junior Carlos Wheeler was named NAIA Honorable Mention and First Team All MSC. Seniors Terry West and Donnie Hensley and junior Randy Barnes were all given Honorable Mention by the Mid-South Conference. Even with all of these honors, the team wasn't quite as successful as the coaching staff had hoped. With the players coming back, the new signees, and the redshirts coming in for next season, CU fans should be in for a treat.

Another Successful Season for the Lady Tigers

The Lady Tigers enjoyed another successful season this year, ending the season with a 29-7 record and an appearance in the Elite Eight of the NAIA National Tournament. The team was the Mid-South Conference regular season champion. The many honors given to individuals on this team proves why Coach Donna Wise earned MSC Coach of the Year honors, while Whitney Lee was MSC Player of the Year and First Team All American and Kodak All American. Along with Lee, Kristin Patton was First Team All American and First Team All MSC. Kelli Stamper, DeAusha Atkinson and Tiffany Roaden all earned MSC Honorable Mention. In addition, Ashley Wallace, Kristin Patton, Nancy Lyon, and Whitney Lee were Academic All Conference Honorees, while Lee was named an NAIA Scholar Athlete. Also during the Hastings College game, she joined the 1000-point club.

TENNIS

Traveling For Tennis

By Camille Edrington

For the CU tennis team the highlight of the 2002 season was the spring break trip to Hilton Head, South Carolina, to participate in a tournament that featured teams from all over the United States. The team also traveled to the Intercollegiate Tennis Association's Rolex Tournament in Lexington at the University of Kentucky and the Mid-South Conference at Centennial Park in Nashville. The team practiced every day at Miller Park and had matches throughout the week and often on Saturdays, but traveling was certainly the best part of the season.

Arts

After hours and hours of practice the music students finally had their pieces memorized perfectly. They eagerly await the opportunity to perform for their classmates, teachers, and members of the Campbellsville community. The curtain rises and it's time at last to reveal their ability and result of their hard work...

Talent is a precious gift along the journey, but for many the celebration of that talent is even more treasured. Whether watching the Marching Band practice on Stapp Lawn on a cool October afternoon, spending a relaxing winter evening in Gosser at an orchestra recital, or enjoying the jazz ensemble at convo, students had the opportunity to witness their classmates' instrumental, theatrical, and vocal abilities.

OPERA

Gianni Schicchi

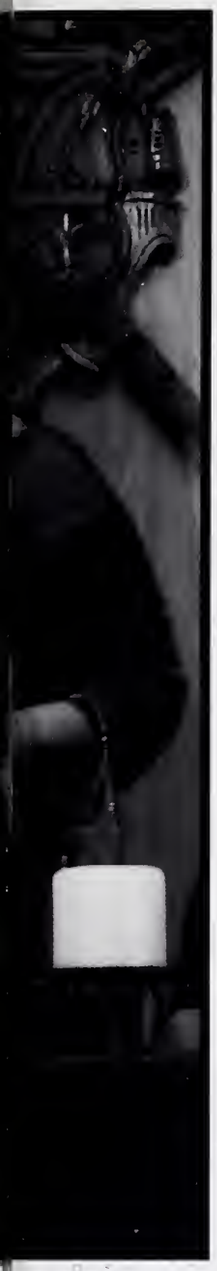
By Cara Forgette

The Campbellsville University School of Music performed the Opera Workshop production of Gianni Schicchi. The performance was directed by Dr. Mark Bradley with Priscila Souza as pianist. The scene was set in Florence, Italy during the 1400's at the bed-chamber of Buoso Donati. This comic opera is about greedy relatives who try to change the will of their deceased relative Buoso Donati. They seek the help of Gianni Schicchi, father of Lauretta, who is in love with Rinuccio. Schicchi takes the place of Donati, who no one outside the family knows is dead. He deviously convinces the doctor and judges that he is Donati and makes a new will. Schicchi then maliciously backstabs the relatives and wills the estate to himself, chasing everyone else out, except his daughter and her sweetheart Rinuccio. This light-hearted opera was filled with wonderful music, superb acting, and a storyline packed with humor, greed and manipulation.

Jeff Parks and Laura Cook play the roles of Betto and Nella.

Jessica Raymond, Laura Cook, and Matthew Crook perform with enthusiasm.

Dr. Mark Bradley directs the opera as well as playing the lead role.



Jeff Parks, Amy Durham, and Matt Crook play the parts of Donati's cheated relatives.

Maciano Gregorio executes the role of the lawyer.

Maciano Gregorio and Amy Durham interact as Amantio, the lawyer, and Zita, the Matriarch.

Dr. Mark Bradley plays the role of Gianni Schicchi whose daughter, Lauretta, is played by Erika Graham.

Concert Chorus

In light of the attacks on September 11, 2001, the Concert Chorus chose a patriotic theme for their April 30, 2002 performance. They chose selections that revealed their vocal talent as well as expressed their feelings about their home country such as The Testament of Freedom, The Star Spangled Banner, Ode to Liberty, and The Battle Hymn of the Republic. Dr. Mark Bradley conducted the recital with special conductor and CU alumna Teresa Tedder leading a piece that she had arranged.

Brooke Douglas sings during the final number in the performance.

Kaleb Chowning, Brian Evans and Kyle Boreing participate in the Concert Chorus' final performance.

Concert Band

Concert Band

Concert Band was made up of Marching Band members, a few select high school students, and other musicians at CU. Under the direction of Dr. David McCullough they practiced three days a week to prepare for their two concerts of the year. They performed both in March and in May. Their lively, upbeat music took a special form for their May concert. Dr. McCullough chose several pieces with patriotic themes including America the Beautiful, God Bless America, and Stars and Stripes.

Chorale

By Camille Edrington

The 2002 University Chorale, an audition choir directed by Dr. Kenneth Martin, traveled to churches and high schools in Kentucky and Ohio to perform in March as part of their Spring Tour and a fall tour in October. They were accompanied by the Handbell Choir and Chamber Choir. One of the highlights of their Spring Tour was performing for the State Senate. The 48-member Chorale also performed at CU convocations, including Heritage Day in September, a school concert in April, and at Commencement in May.

The University Chorale holds a school concert.

Dr. Martin invited Chorale alumni to join them in closing the concert with the singing of My Old Kentucky Home.

The Handbell Choir pauses holding their bells before they begin.

Handbells

By Camille Edrington

The inaugural season of the CU Handbells Choir proved to be very successful. The choir was directed by Mrs. Nevalyn Moore. They traveled with the Chamber Choir and the Chorale on Spring Tour. Their performance pieces included a Phantom of the Opera medley, several traditional religious pieces, and some "black spirituals." One of the favorite songs they performed was the old spiritual "Dry Bones," in which Josh Wortham participated in a solo where he tapped two bones together instead of ringing the usual bell.

Josh Wortham and Tiffany Pennington were two participants in the Handbell Choir's inaugural season.

The Handbell Choir performs at a school concert after returning from a long trip.

Paige Jones pauses while Jay Holt plays a solo.

Jazz Ensemble

Perhaps one of the more "laid back" performances of the year was the recital by CU's Jazz Ensemble on April 23, 2002. The concert's atomosphere proved to be both familiar and comfortable, and the performers appeared confident and well-rehearsed. The most likely reason for this ambience was that the ensemble has spent an unusual amount of time together preparing for a tour in Brazil this summer. They used Brazil as their theme for the evening performing pieces like Latin Hunny, Chimps on the Loose, and Brazil. They went all out during these selections with even the trumpet section donning sunglasses to enhance the mood.

Paige Jones performs a solo.

Jezimar Norberto plays a solo on bass. The Jazz Ensemble plans to travel to Norberto's home country of Brazil on tour this summer.

Corey Bonds and Jennifer Allen play trumpet in the Wind Ensemble.

Wind Ensemble

The entire CU Wind Ensemble performs only once a year. This year they held a school concert at Campbellsville Baptist Church on April 22, 2002. Dr. David McCullough conducted the ensemble through three of what he referred to as "somewhat neglected" pieces or "forgotten treasures." They performed the Divertimento for Band Op. 42 by Vincent Persichetti, Jericho by Morton Gould, and Pictures at an Exhibition by Modest Petrovich Moussorgsky. The audience particularly enjoyed Jericho because the trumpet section moved to the back and at the climax of the performance stood to reenact the biblical march around the city.

Dr. David McCullough takes a moment to address the audience.

By Dr. David McCullough

From the very first sounds of Band Camp in August, it was clear that the Tiger Marching Band's tenth season would truly be of historic proportion. Boasting personnel of over eighty members, the band presented a powerful program of classic repertoire, including Carmina Burana , Were You There?/Russian Christmas Music, and "Finale" from Symphony No. 5 by Dmitri Shostakovich.

Returning to his familiar role of directing the Marching Band, Director of Bands Dr. David McCullough was joined by first-year Assistant Director of Bands Jennifer Tinnell. The band performed at all home football games, including the first ever NAIA playoff game on the CU campus. In addition, the band performed as exhibition band at the Taylor County and Nelson County High Schools marching band contests and at the KMEA Class A West Regional Band Competition in Bowling Green. The Band finished its super 2001 season with appearances in the Lexington and Campbellsville Christmas parades December 1.

Richard Bower and Edilene Lopes perform on the violin.

Orchestra

The CU orchestra had their final performance of the 2001-2002 school year on May 2, 2002. Dr. Robert Gaddis conducted the performance group. American Salute, Porgy and Bess Medley, and Academic Festival Overture were among the pieces chosen to be performed. Dr. Lisa MacArthur also participated as a flute soloist playing a selection by Carle Reinecke. The recital also included the world premiere of a piece by CU alumnus John Neal titled The Enchanted Forest.

Newspaper

Many students may have been oblivious to the hard-working, ever-present Campus Times staff. Whether one attended a concert, football game, luncheon, or just a student-sponsored event a photographer or writer from the CU newspaper staff was undoubtedly present. Their work was appreciated, however, when an edition of the paper was deposited in each student and faculty member's mailbox.

Mr. Stan McKinney served as the advisor for Campus Times.

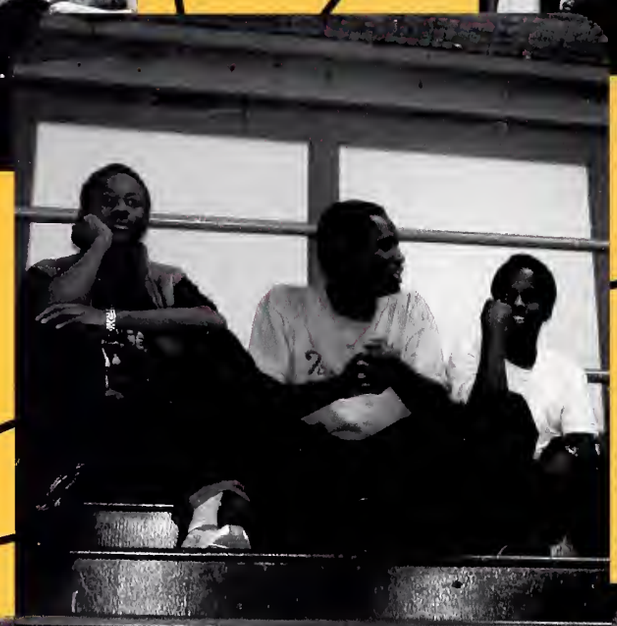
Closing



The year has come to an end. The preliminary questions are the same every year: Did you meet your goals? Did you accomplish all that you planned to? Did you buy that car? Did you work up the courage to propose to your girlfriend? Did you get that job? Did you finish all the credits that you needed for the year?

However, as graduation comes around, summer approaches, and another school year ends, the questions tend to become more sentimental: Did you watch at least one sunrise? Did you hike by the lake? Did you splurge and take a vacation?

As another chapter is completed the questions are narrowed down again to just one: Was there JOY in your JOURNEY?

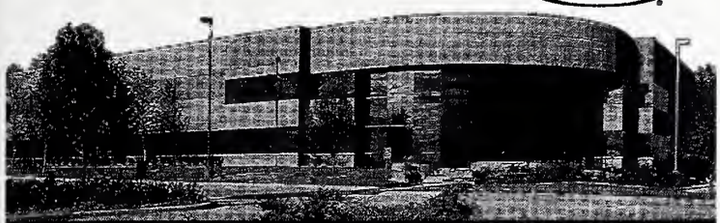
FACT: A BUTLER® BUILDING CAN USE CONCRETE, BRICK OR EVEN STUCCO.

Butler may be the leading designer and manufacturer of pre-engineered metal buildings, but did you know our systems also work well with a variety of wall materials?

Designed specifically for tilt-up concrete or other types of masonry walls, the Delta Joist™ system fulfills your structural system needs perfectly. Plus, the Delta Joist system provides the kinds of benefits you expect from a Butler product, including: reduced project time, large amounts of column-free space and the ability to use Butler's premiere roof system, the MR-24.®

As your local Butler Builder,® the Delta Joist structural system is just one of the many Butler® systems we offer. Contact us to experience the high-quality services and products that only a Butler Builder can provide.

BUTLER



THAT'S THE BEAUTY OF A BUTLER BUILDER®.

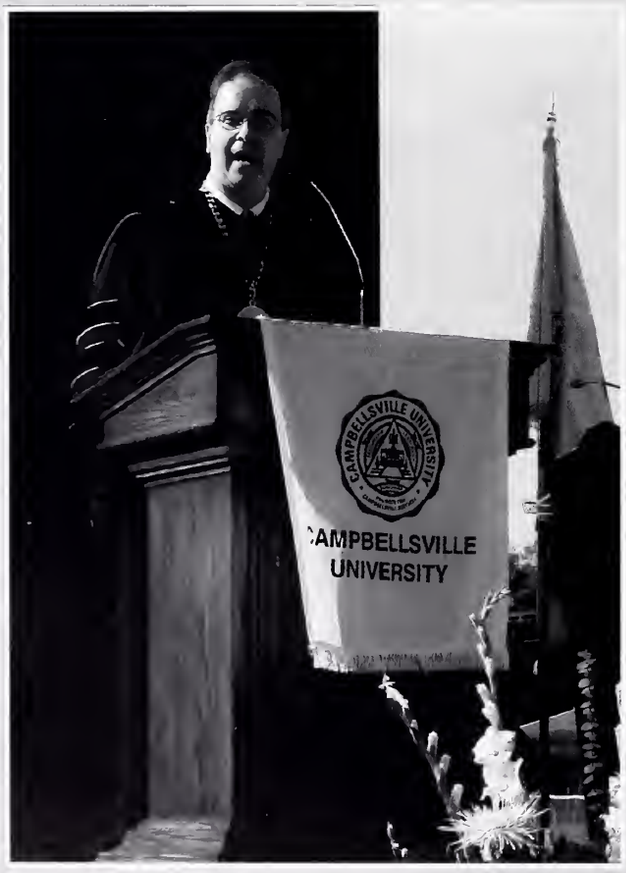
Commencement

By Joan C. McKinney and Marc C. Whitt

Two hundred fifty-seven Campbellsville University undergraduate and graduate students were challenged on Saturday, May 11, 2002, by U. S. Secretary of Labor Elaine L. Chao to "work hard and dare to dream." These comments were made during Campbellsville University's 76th commencement service held at Tiger Stadium.

Dr. Michael V. Carter, President of Campbellsville University, welcomed those in attendance to the third-largest commencement in the school's history. He told the graduates, "Today is genuinely a time to be happy and appreciative. As a Christian school, CU takes the words of Jesus seriously. Joy comes from serving and learning from Christ who gives life and gives it abundantly (John 10:10). Deep inner peace comes from service."



Dr. Carter welcomes the congregation at the Commencement Exercises.

Message from the President

When asked by the Campbellsville University Board of Trustees at their spring meeting what had changed the most at CU during his years as an undergraduate, Student Government Association President Michael Coogle, a graduating senior from Elizabethtown, responded by saying that he had been the one who had changed the most.

Michael's impressive response testifies to the positive living and learning environment Campbellsville University provides her nearly 1,800 students. As we do continue to make significant improvements to our academic programs, facilities and grounds, it is the positive change we seek to make on a student's life that means the most.

Campbellsville University is dedicated to each student's success. Our graduates leave prepared as Christian servant leaders. They impact the world through their words, deeds and actions.

As we conclude the academic year, we have been blessed with significant opportunities that will continue to launch this institution to the next level of educational excellence. Permit me to list a few of the highlights from this academic year that I believe will further our cause of providing one of the region's leading experiences in Christian higher education today:

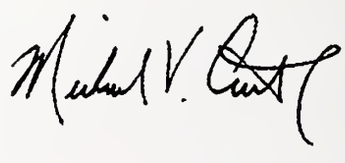
The Board of Trustees has approved the second and third phases of the Strategic Plan. These phases specifically list goals and objectives for each area of the University during the next three years. This plan will allow us to be more effective as we seek to provide students with a superior Christian education.

The University will open its multi-million dollar Technology Training Center later this summer. The center is enabling CU students to have the latest in Internet, instructional, and distance learning technologies. This is a world-class technology center available to all CU students.

The CU campus will continue to witness several improvements to its grounds and facilities during the next few months. These include the much-needed renovation and modernization of the Montgomery Library; the construction of a Wellness and Athletic Training Center at the Powell Athletic Center; the construction of the O. D. and Bessie Hawkins Athletic Field House; the construction of the Joan White Howell Environmental Education Center at the University's Clay Hill Memorial Forest where more than 3,000 students (grade school through college level) venture through its woods each year--conducting environmental research; and the implementation of the Energy Conservation Plan in the residential, academic, and athletic facilities that will add to the comfort and learning environment for all CU students. In addition to these improvements, the University anticipates the construction of new residential facilities; a chapel and worship center, a student center, and a communications facility for the academic programs.

We have entered into a partnership with Perkins & Will, a nationally respected architectural firm that is leading us in the planning and design of our new facilities management plan. Once completed, this plan will enable us to pinpoint the location of future academic, athletic and residential facilities, while ensuring proper use of our existing facilities.

One final note to our recent graduates: It is our prayer to the 257 members of the Class of 2002 who graduated May 11th that God would continue to enrich your lives, as you become a force for good in your communities.



The Joy is in the Journey

"You will go out in Joy and be led forth in peace..."

Colophon

The 2002 Maple Trail was published by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. Nine hundred of Volume 54 were printed. The 9 x 12 book contains 184 pages. The photographs were taken by the Maple Trail staff except where special credit was given.

Thanks to Dr. Michael Carter, Dr. Alan Medders, and Dr. Frank Cheatham for getting us off to a good start.

Thanks to John Burch for furnishing us an office and equipment.

Thanks to Marc Whitt for his assistance and continuous support.

Thanks to the Office of Public Relations and Marketing for being especially cooperative and gracious with several photography assignments.

Thanks to our yearbook representative, Hugh Black, who went above and beyond what was required with an exceptional attitude.

Thanks to the Taylor technical support center and Jerry Steely and Monika Thomas, our Taylor account executives.

Special thanks to Patty McDowell, who served as this year's yearbook sponsor, for staying late, encouraging her staff, and holding things together without complaint.

Thanks to the staff for accepting last-minute assignments and late-night proofing sessions.

Finally, thank you for allowing me this opportunity to help record the history and memories of the 2001-2002 school year. I remain humbled and honored to have held this position. May you continue to be blessed and to find joy in the journey that He has planned for you.
